WHO WE ARE:
Our faculty is nationally ranked for its research productivity and is recognized by the university for its teaching excellence. Through a wide range of courses and extracurricular offerings we provide our students with a strong background in German language, culture, and literature to educate them to live and work in an increasingly global world. Small class sizes ensure close interaction between students and our award-winning faculty. Personalized advising, free tutoring hours and a weekly conversation hour contribute to student success. Through our High School Day and other public events, our department also acts as a resource for German culture in the greater Chicago area. The department has a variety of study abroad opportunities available for undergraduate students. Students who are enrolled in at least GER 103 as of the Spring semester can earn 6 hours of credit during the 4-week summer program in Berlin. Students interested in a longer program can spend a semester or year abroad in Vienna, Austria.

WEBSITE: lcsl.las.uic.edu/germanic

DEGREES OFFERED: Bachelor of Arts: German, Bachelor of Arts: Germanic Studies, Business Minor Bachelor of Arts: Teaching of German, Minor, Master of Arts, PhD

POTENTIAL CAREER OPTIONS:
German majors pursue a broad variety of professional and academic careers. These include: Foreign Service, international affairs, international business, teaching, import and export, journalism, finance and banking, tourism, a variety of consulting professions, and more. German majors also continue on to graduate or professional school and careers in medicine, law, library science, architecture, and other careers in business, technology, science, and the arts.

MOST POPULAR COURSES:
• 219: Vikings and Wizards: Northern Myth and Fairy Tales in Western Culture

WHERE YOU CAN FIND US:
Department of Germanic Studies
University Hall, 17th Floor

For more information please visit las.uic.edu/prospective or email lasinfo@uic.edu

Updated: September 2015