HISTORY

WHO WE ARE:
History is the study of change over time, but it’s also the story of who we are as people, how our world was created, and what we value and believe. Studying history allows students to develop skills in high demand in the workplace such as conducting research and analysis, critical-thinking and effective writing. Each History major produces a capstone paper under faculty guidance that offers them the opportunity to locate, evaluate and make sense of evidence as well as tell a compelling story.

WEBSITE: hist.uic.edu

DEGREES OFFERED: Bachelor of Arts: Teaching of History; Master of Arts: History, Teaching of History; PhD

POTENTIAL CAREER OPTIONS:
Studying history provides opportunities in areas such as research, analysis, writing, law, and any job requiring analysis of information and the ability to formulate a cogent written argument.

MOST POPULAR COURSES:
• 117: Understanding the Holocaust
• 259: History of American Women
• 300: Methods Course for Majors

WHERE YOU CAN FIND US:
Department of History
University Hall, 9th and 10th Floors